101 IDEAS

fine lines

Designer Nili Lotan honed her skills at Ralph Lauren and Nautica before branching out on her own—and charming J.Crew, which now carries her gotta-have-it classics (sweater, $218; 212-219-8794).

jewelry madly deeply

Love it when designers put a ring on it: Salvatore Ferragamo partners with Gianni Bulgari to debut its first fine-jewelry collection (rings, price upon request; 800-628-8916 for stores).

gator aid

helping hand

Delfina Delettrez is known for her museum-worthy jewelry. Made of olive-tree wood and marble, her exclusive cuffs for the Gagosian Gallery Shop New York double as objets d'art (price upon request; gagosian.com).

hot launch

Teaming up with Opening Ceremony on its first line of sportswear, Keds put a new spin on its old school blue label (t-shirt, $150, skirt, $125, at Opening Ceremony 212-219-2688).

engine check

To mark its collaboration with Maserati on a GranCabrio sports car, Fendi presents an equally luxurious travel kit for the chickest of road trippers (bag, price upon request, sunglasses, $577, scarf, $776; 212-759-4646).

everyday italian

Veni, vidi, Versace! As anticipated as the iPhone 5: Versace for H&M hits stores on November 19 (belt, $49.95, scarf, $29.95; hm.com for stores).
